

November 3, 2007 Trip to see SEX WORKER

As many of you know Thailand is one of the more famous countries in the world for sex tourists. It boasts cities like Pattaya, Phuket's Patong Beach and Bangkok. Bangkok is noted for three areas attracting sex tourist: Patpong, Cowboy Soi and NANA Plaza. NANA Plaza being one of the most famous.

Estimates of the number of prostitutes in Thailand vary widely and are subject to controversy. One estimate published in 2003 placed the trade at US$ 4.3 billion per year, about three percent of the Thai economy.[1]

That does not include all the money that goes to hotels, taxis, restaurants, liquor or any of the other things that go with the money spent by sex tourist.

If you are interested in reading more information about the sex workers please go to this link or cut and paste it to your address line.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Prostitution_in_Thailand

There seems to be a lot of questions about the legal age for sex here in Thailand which you can read about on this link:

<http://www.stickmanbangkok.com/Weekly2006/weekly263.htm>

There are many discussion about this having sex for money and how old the person, male of female must be to have sex for money. Here is another link that talks about that:

<http://www.sexwork.com/Thailand/child.html>

Now, I am in a commented relationship with Daeng. Yes, me, the guy that goes to Alcoholic's Anonymous meeting to meet girls. Don't judge me; AA meetings are a good place to meet girls as you don't have to buy them drinks.

Stay away from those Narcotics Anonymous girls as they always what you to give them ALL your drugs and then they flush them down the toilet.

Let's talk about my trip to see a sex worker. During my trip to Bangkok last March I met a sweet little Thai girl named "BO". I remembered her as she was a cute little girl with long silky black hair and almond shaped eyes that sparkled when she smiled at you. Daeng knows her thru her sister who lives just south of Bangkok. Bo spent the night with us at the Rex Hotel in the Sukhumvit area of Bangkok. She had a very cute little figure, too.

During our trip to Bangkok from northern Thailand last week, Daeng ask me if I would like to go see "Bo". I said sure, let's go. Daeng said we would go see her the next day as she had some money for her.

The next day after we had a squid breakfast we hopped into a metered cab and headed to see her. It was a good distance to north Bangkok and took us about 45 minutes to get there. When we got out of the cab I looked around and the place we were at did not look like a residential area, it looked like a hospital.

I ask Daeng and she said yes, this was a long term hospital. We took the elevator to the sixth floor and walked into a very stark hospital ward. I saw "Bo" in a hospital bed with tubes up her nose and weighing about 60 pounds.

Bo smiles at us and tried to raise her hand to wave but could not get it more than a few inches off the bed.

This sweet little girl has AIDS and is now suffering from lung disease. We visited with her and her boyfriend. She is very lucky to have a man that comes to visit her for a few hours everyday.

Five months ago she was a happy, laughing little lady and now she is close to death.

The reason I am telling you about this trip is to impress on everyone the need for SAFE SEX so that the spread of this disease can be stopped. Also, if you use intervenes drugs DON'T SHARE NEEDLES!!!

Best wishes to you and may GOD Bless Us ALL!

Sincerely,
Terry and Daeng

P. S. I read this to Daeng before I sent it out and she told me I was wrong. Bo was NOT a sex worker! Daeng told me that Bo and her husband had become HIV positive during a one time party weekend with another couple about three years ago. They had been true to each other before that. Her husband died with AIDS about a year ago.

YES, ONE TIME CAN KILL YOU!

PLEASE SAVE YOUR LIFE, USE CONDOMS AND DON'T SHARE NEEDLES!

References

1. ^ a b Thailand mulls legal prostitution. The Age, November 26, 2003

 Note: December 25, 2007 – While talking to Daeng on the telephone in Thailand I was told that Bo passed away at 5:00 PM, December 24, 2007.